was a candidate for Clerk before the Dem ocratic caucus here last Tuesday night He made a creditable run-but failed for the lack of a good many votes. He has since returned home and written up his observations in and around the Capitol He considers Fulkerson, of Wayne county, "the best looking man in the House, and a perfect gentleman." Chap Stewart "bids fair to be the leader of the House and will be a safe and able one." Arnold, of Lewis, is "the Thurman of the House," and John son, of Harrison, "is the Cox of the House." So it will be seen that we have some big men amongus. There are some others

ment of 1861.

On Tuesday last Congress put a unal quietus on the claim for damages for the destruction of the college of William and Mary on the peninusla of Virginia during the war. This bill had been before Control of Woolen goods during the interval by $25,000,000, and next by the fact that are large and the woolen goods during the interval by $25,000,000, and next by the fact that are large and the woolen goods during the interval by $25,000,000, and next by the fact that are large and the woolen goods during the interval by $25,000,000, and next by the fact that are large and the woolen goods during the interval by $25,000,000, and next by the fact that are large and the woolen goods during the large and the woolen goods during the large and the woolen goods during the woolen goods during the large and the woolen goods during the woolen goods during the large and the large and the woolen goods during the large and the large a gress for a long period. He contended that when the United States recognized the Wheeling Government as the Government of Virginia that it assumed that Virginia that virginia that it assumed that virginia was loyal, and it was therefore responsible by the law of nations far this damage.

Such an argument might do for a Virginia Confederate lawyer, but it fell flat even upon a Democratic Congress. The members knew enough to know that only loyal people constituted the government of Virginia as reoragnized at Wheeling in 1881, and that neither they nor the loyal people of the ountry by that act becau for the casualties of war to property that had been used prior to its destruction, as a prison pen for the punishment of Union

We published on Saturday the results of an interview with Vice President Keyser in regard to the history of through and local freights upon the Raltimore & Ohio road. There is every reason to believe that the Legislature will favor a revision of the local schedule that will meet the views of shippers more satisfactorily than any previous rates ever put in force touching the equalization of through and local freights. As showing what through rates imply on the trunk line and the constant are now offering account. of the country, we may refer to the and Erie canal has just been published, by froight on a bushel of wheat was only 9.21 cents. Nine years ago the toils alone on the Eric canal amounted to 6.21 cents per bushel. This reduction in the cost of transportation by the water routes has forced the rail routes to a similar reduction during the season of navigation, say for eight months in the year.

If the city of Baltimore is going to compete with New York as a great exporting port for western freight, the Baltimore Road must be prepared to meet these rates on her Chicago business. Else her steam ships have been bullt in value, and all her expenditures at Locust point will avail very little. Whether she can do so is at least problematical. There are three great plan does not work. Mr. Chipley, of Hardy county, will find that he has many of the same way of thinking as himself on the subject of whipping posts as and a water routes to compete with, and the competition of the future is to be very sharp. New York City has awakened to the fact that she has not held her own, relatively, in the growth of the export provision trade, and the papers of that city are classoring for a complete wiping out of all tolls on the Eric canal. New York sees that the Camada canals are being enlarged as oa to admit vessels of greater burden, direct from Chicago to Montreal, and to Europe, and she is exercised at the idea of Europe, and she is exercised at the idea of Europe, and she is exercised at the idea of Europe, and she is exercised at the idea of Europe, and she is exercised at the idea of Europe, and she is exercised at the idea of Europe, and she is exercised at the idea of Europe, and she is exercised at the idea of Europe, and she is exercised at the idea of Europe, and she is exercised at the idea of Europe, and she is exercised at the idea of Europe, and she is exercised at the idea of Europe, and she is exercised at the idea of Europe, and she is exercised at the idea of Europe, and she is exercised at the idea of Europe, and she is exercised at the idea of Europe, and she is exercised at the idea of Eu

Our Tenure of Life
Depends in great measure upon our regard for or neglect of the laws of health. If we violate them we cannot expect to "make old bones." But that the span of existence alotted to a naturally delicate constitution, or one which has been shaken by disease may be materially lengthened, is a fact of which we have daily proof. The vivilying and restorative influence of Hostetter's Bomach Bitters upon a failing physique affords a striking illustration of the power of judicious medication to strengthen the hold on life. Restored digestion, complete assimilation, renewed appetite, sound repose, these are among the benefits conferred upon the debilitated by that supreme renovant. With a circulation enriched, a frame invigorated, and a nervous system tranquilized, the invalid, after a course of the Bitters, feels that his life tenure is no longer the precarious thing that it was—that he may yet enjoy a "green old age."
